

of the problems that were generated by the piece of revealed information that you got yesterday. Yet Moses was bringing it down from Mt. Sinai for us. It was written by fire with the finger of you know whom and this was supposed to be the final word but we find out less than 24 hours later that there were errors.

PRESIDENT: One minute, Senator.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: I'm telling you there are errors again this morning and these are errors not based on factual misinformation or a difference of interpretation of the Supreme Court's rendering, but errors based on the attempt by some and willingness by others of the Legislature to write into the statutes recognition of certain doctrines of one particular church. So what you at least ought to do, because I know you're not going to do away with the wrong that you did yesterday altogether, strike the two names of these organizations. That is the least you can do.

PRESIDENT: Senator Shirley Marsh.

SENATOR MARSH: Mr. President and members of this Legislative body. Do you wish to be known as a Legislature which does not care whether you are adopting a piece of unconstitutional insertion into this piece of legislation? Or are you simply trying to kill the entire bill? The amendment which was added yesterday, in my estimation as well as the estimation of a number of legal authorities, is unconstitutional. I'm sure most of you are aware even though you may not have thought about it recently no one, no not a single individual is forced to have an abortion in our state or any other state. If the Catholic Church, if the members of birthright, and many others choose not to have an abortion, no one is forced to have one. But you continue to ignore the fact that the Supreme Court has said a woman has the right to make that decision under certain circumstances and that does not include signing something to leave in the doctor's office or signing something to be sent to the State Department of Health and it does not include having the name of two particular organizations inserted permanently into state statute. We have a constitutional prohibition against a personal type comment like that in our statutes. Most of you are aware of this. I sincerely hope you will reconsider your actions taken yesterday.

PRESIDENT: Senator Dworak.

SENATOR DWORAK: Mr. Chairman, colleagues. If there are errors and if there were errors with what was done yesterday, these errors should be corrected. I'm the first to admit and I think the DeCamp amendment this morning goes a long way with correcting these errors. If there are still errors and the DeCamp amendment, these errors should be manifested by those people that have found them and corrected. But, it's hard to correct errors when we approach this floor with the attitude that I'm washing my hands of the whole criminal code. It's hard to correct those errors when we come in with the approach that I absolutely refuse to help improve this or add any constructive amendments. Of course, it's not perfect but it is this body's job to make it as perfect as possible. I also resent this constant suggestion that all pro-life advocates are members of the Catholic Church.
